How to Protect Your Schedule & Profit: Why Minimizing Water Damage on Jobsites Shields your Business in the Long Run Construction Business Owner Blog

As a construction business owner, you know the risks of working on a jobsite, but few sources of loss are as frequent and increasingly costly as water damage. Nationwide's construction claims data shows that nearly one-third of all liability losses on construction sites are caused by water damage. Further, the cost of water damage claims has been rising year over year, with median claims costs up 21%. And if that doesn't concern you, then maybe this will: Since 2015, claims surpassing $500,000 have doubled, and those over $1 million have tripled. Read More

Opportunity and Preparation: Creating a Business Development Plan for Your Construction Business

Thursday, September 25 | 10:00am-11:30am CST | Virtual

Join the Urban League of Louisiana on Thursday, September 25, 10:00am-11:30am, for “Opportunity and Preparation: Creating a Business Development Plan for Your Construction Business.” This virtual session is a part of a series of monthly workshops hosted in collaboration with the Louisiana Department of Transportation and Development's DBE Supportive Services program.

Business development in construction management refers to a strategic and actionable plan for pursuing new business and fostering relationships with your most preferred clients. Your business development plan outlines how you identify prospects, share your capabilities, and nurture business relationships so that prospects become clients when the time is right.

During this session, contractors will learn how to increase profitability and scalability, by creating and managing a business development strategy – one that maximizes its strengths and experience and one that targets and converts its most preferred client types. The goal is to convert prospects to clients and to turn bids into awards!

The facilitator for this session is Courtney Elzey, Principal, MCDS, LLC. There is no cost to attend, however, registration is required. Register today to reserve your spot!
